In Loving Memory of

Julie Hollingshead
(May 15, 1992 - August 5, 2009)

She sits there watching with beautiful Angel wings, through the stars from Heaven above, knowing the strength and power of a mother's love.

You've touch my heart

September 5, 2009

I first off must say that my youngest daughter has brought me to your site. (Sydnee Hill) you two have spoken a couple of times. I had known about your daughter and tried to help my daughter thru this time. Tonite she brought me up to this web site that you had created. I must say as a mother of 2 girls myself (one 18 and Sydnee 16) the first paragraphes of your story made me smile and cry at the same time! I had the same flash backs to when I went thru thoses very same moments as you!

At that time of reading your story I could relate to you~~~ But to carry on with your story, I cannot say I know how you feel~~~because truly I cannot begin to relate to the ending of your story. There aren't any words I can type or say in this message to begin to understand how you must feel. The only thing I can try and say to you is I would want you to know that my heart has gone out to you! As her mother!!!! No matter what our children may say or do~~they are always our children and we love them no matter what! And by reading this story you have wrote about your beautiful daughter Julie, she knew she had a mother who loved and still loves her no matter what!!! Just remember that. Your daughter knows how much you care about her!

Please take care and keep fighting for your daughter!!!! It can help another parent one day.

Shes Beautiful

September 4, 2009

She is just breath takingly beautiful. Did she model? I think you've done a great job on her web-site.I wanted to leave a pretty picture on here but I don't know how to on this site yet.

I have a web-site for Brandon to if you'd like to see it. It's www.brandon-bricker.memory-of.com

If you need me I'm here for you anytime. It's almost like I can feel your heart and mine touch because of the pain we will share.

Though I Am Dead

September 4, 2009

Though I am dead grieve not for me with tears think not of death with sorrowing and tears; I am so near that every tear you shed touches and tortures me, though you think me dead.

But when you laugh and sing in glad delight, my soul is lifted upward to the light.
Laugh and be glad for all that life is giving and I, though dead, will share your joy in living.

Should You Go First

September 4, 2009

Should you go first and I remain to walk the road alone I'll live in memory's garden, with happy days we've known in Spring I'll wait for roses red, when fades the lilacs blue, in early fall, when brown leaves call I'll catch a glimpse of you Should you go first, and I remain for battles to be fought, each thing you've touched along the way will be a hallowed spot I'll hear your voice; I'll see your smile, though blindly I may grope the memory of your helping hand will buoy me on with hope We've known so much of happiness we've had our cup of joy, and memory is one gift of God that death cannot destroy Should you go first and I remain,
one thing I'd have you do;
walk slowly down that long, lone path, for soon I'll follow you I'll want to know each step you take that I may walk the same, for some day down that lonely road you'll hear me call your name.

Loving Bunches and Bunches Angel!!!!

A Mothers Love: By Natasha Potter

A mothers love
A mothers love is everlasting, forever
A mother and her child will always be together
A mothers love for her child through the smiles and the tears
Will stay strong for years and years
A mothers love will never die
Even if sometimes her child makes her cry
A mother can really reach up high, and touch the sky
When next to her is her child
A mothers love will reach beyond the grave
When a mother is with her child she will always be brave
Two children or one, daughter or son
More precious than the stars above
You can never take a mothers love

My favourite memory of Julie is seeing her in Eastdales halls, I barely knew her at the time but she'd wave to me and smile such a huge beautiful smile. Although now its hurts to know her beautiful angelic smile held such pain that no one really knew about. But I still try to think that maybe her smiles those days were ones she really felt. I lived in Hamilton when she did, and we made plans to run around Hamilton and take pictures at awesome places. She had said life wasnt too amazing, she didnt have many people to chill with in Hamilton.I ended up moving from Hamilton, not too long after that. And I felt so bad that I didnt get to hangout with her. I would have had such memories with an amazing girl. But, I do hope she found peace. And I will do anything, to help anyone who needs to talk <3 <3 <3 you are all amazing people.

tarah lynn hagar

i remmember staying up late nights chatting on msnn and we would laugh so much and have themost amazing conversations.. we met a couple times and we got along so well , we knew lots about each other becouse we would stay upp and play 21 questions.. she was the most amazing girl you would ever meet , she always had a smile on her face and she would always help people before she thot of herself.. i memmber everymorning when i couldnt sleep she would be up at 5 in the morning and she would be the only one on msn and we would have like hours convos i would be so tired in the morninbut idnt care becouse i kept talking to her .. she always hellped me when i was so sadd. she always worried about people before herself. she was such a kind and beautiful girl, when ever there was someone that needed help or someone to talk to or advice she was there , i don't get why someone so beautiful had to go.. and i can't believe she couldn't just get some help there was so many people that would have helped her and now we're all hurting but it's not her fault no , she is happier and she is better off up in heaven .. i just don't get how she could do something , no one ever seen it coming we love you julie , and we will get the word of suicide across someone's mind maybe we can save a life for you , i know it's what you would want since you didn't get to save you're self everyday i wake up and go on msn and see you not on and i relive the day everyday again and again thinking you're coming back and you're really not and it just hasn't set over me yet ,i still can't believe everything you'e gone , you're not coming back , i'm never ever gonna see u again were never going to have those amazing msn chats , you're never going to be the friend i run to wen i hae problems , oh julie why .. i know we were not best friends .. but we were friends and that's what matters i miss you so much baby girl look over everyone , espically you're lovving mother and you're wnderful bestfriend emily.. make trhem safe and better , i love you :(

If tears could build a stairway and memories were a lane We would walk right up to Heaven and bring u back again No farewell words were spoken No time to say goodbye you were gone before we knew it and only God knows why Our hearts still ache in sadness and secret tears still flow What it meant to lose you No one will ever know But now we know you want us To mourn for you no more To member all the happy times Life still has much in store Since you'll never be forgotten We pledge to you today A hallowed place within our hearts Is where you'll always stay
When the clouds part and a ray of sun shines through We look to the sky and think of you. you see our tears and feel our ache We breathe you in with each breath we take There is no need to miss, what is not gone For you are right here, were you belong you are the suns warmth on our face Guiding us through this dark place you are the whisper of the wind through the night.
That gentle sparkle in a stars light you the colours of the rainbow after a summers rain.
Dazzling, vivid colours nothing could ever tame You made your own path from the start And we continue to carry your footprints on our heart When we stop to think of all we miss Look around and think of this Something so special & rare could never fade.&
That is how we know you stayed Because when the clouds part and that ray of sun shines through
We will smile, knowing that glimmer is you Rest in peace to my friend up above. I'm writing this poem to show you my love. you are in a better place now, better than Earth. God knew they was going to be special ever since birth. you're watching over us making sure we don't do wrong. Even though you left, in our hearts you're never gone. So rest in peace to the beautiful lady up above, the memory I will always have is your love.

Two roses are positioned in the upper right quadrant of the image. The rose on the right is larger and more open, showing its petals in detail. The rose on the left is smaller and more tightly closed. Both roses are rendered in a soft, painterly style that blends into the background.

Life Story

every hour, every thought, every smile...

January 1, 1992

I would like to introduce you all to my beautiful daughter Julie, she was born on May 15, 1992...Two years previous I had a still birth and was sooo worried and anxious during my pregnancy with her...The day I found out I was pregnant again I was totally in love with her...The day she was born I was introduced to little wonderful baby who had two toned coloured blonde hair (she looked liked the sun had already kissed her hair)...She was such a happy baby and so good never any colic or crying...Every morning soon as she could stand there Julie would be standing up in her crib smiling...My parents when I would get a chance to visit would put her travel crib in their room and love to see her when she woke up.

As a little girl she loved Barney and Scooby-Doo (I still have the Scooby blanket Santa brought her one Christmas). She loved playing and trying to keep up with her big brother who was 8 years older but even through their arguments he still thought of her as 'His'. Smiling and crying here.

She always was one who ran away from bugs when little, a string on a shoe was a scary spider trying to catch her, and Grandpa (as she called my Dad Papa) had 'killer bees'....they were wasp's :)...Scared of thunder Julie and my Mom would stand by the window at my parent's cottage waving and saying 'Bye bye rain'. She grew up to handle reptiles most people would never want to touch...

As a teenager she had one HUGE heart for all animals and small children, she hated school and rules! Okay yep a teenager. She would babysit anything from a small infant to a Burmese Python!!! She loved punk music, we were to see Marky Ramone together but never made it. She loved drawing and was remarkable at it, her imagination would soar and she would dream up some awesome drawings. She loved Wendy's for the Baconator and Pizza Hut for cheesie bread sticks....

We would spend time listening to music, alot of times the same song over and over because she like it, one way Mommy learned the words! :) Her dream was to become a chef like chef Ramsey on T.V, she loved his attitude! :) or an underwater welder, given a chance she would have learned both.

She was just recently diagnosed with depression in June of this year, the hospital was to keep her for two weeks...They released her only after a few days with a prescription for anti-depressants and the name of a therapist. I could scream here. I kept trying to talk her into seeing a therapist, I blame the health care system for letting her down. I have written to the NHS (Niagara Health Services), the Minister of Health, the Premier of Ontario and the Prime Minister of Canada...Changes need to be done. Julie committed suicide by hanging herself at her father's house on Aug. 5, 2009... No hospital should have released someone so soon who only 2 months before was admitted for suicidal thoughts and diagnosed with depression....Anti-depressant medication in teenagers have been found to do more harm than good and people you weren't treating the illness just trying to cover the symptoms....

I wish things were not as they are, my life right now is a living hell, but I am trying even through letters to anyone I can think of to help another family with a beautiful daughter or son, we should not be let down by our health systems. If I could change a second through her journey into that dark place I would do it in a second... God places children at the highest of his list that is because they love purely and innocently, that is way it should be...

People were also bringing babies to Jesus to have him touch them.

When the disciples saw this, they rebuked them.

But Jesus called the children to him and said,

"Let the little children come to me, and do not hinder them, for the kingdom of God belongs to such as these.

I tell you the truth; anyone who will not receive the kingdom of God like a little child will never enter it."

- Luke 18:15-17
